

GREAT FAITH IN CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY

"Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy was used by my father about a year ago when he had diarrhoea. It relieved him immediately and by taking three doses he was absolutely cured. He has great faith in this remedy," writes Mrs. W. H. Williams, Stanley, N. Y.

SHARP, STABBING PAINS

Often Tell of Weak Kidneys—A Paris Resident Shows You What To Do.

The sharp twinges of pain in the small of the back that strikes you after any sudden twist or awkward motion, may tell of weak kidneys. And there are often disturbances of the urine—too frequent urination, scalding or burning pain during passage, discolored urine and sediment. Doan's Kidney Pills are prepared especially for weakened kidneys, kidney backache and urinary disorders—have proven their merit in thousands of cases. Doan's are endorsed throughout the civilized world—are recommended by Paris residents.

Chas. Stewart, tinsmith, Lilleston avenue, Paris, says: "I had three or four attacks of lumbago in the past few years, the first being the worst. My back was a dull, constant ache all the time and often sharp, cutting pains darted through it. Sometimes, I thought I could hardly endure the misery. Doctors' medicine was of no avail and somehow I got hold of Doan's Kidney Pills, procuring them from the Ardery Drug Co. The first box helped me and I continued taking them until cured of the attack. Return spells since then have always been slight, and Doan's Kidney Pills have never failed to relieve me."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Stewart had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. (adv)

THE OCTOBER AMERICAN MAGAZINE.

Mary Roberts Rinehart has written a wonderful, inspiring article called "My Creed," for the October American Magazine. She has something to say about the war that will make you sit up and think. "Dropping the Easy Job and Tackling the Tough One" is an article about Henry L. Doherty, the great public utility man, which tells how he rose from a newsboy to a multi-millionaire; "How I Advertised Myself Into a Better Job" is a personal story of success; and "Have You a Friend Who is a Lawyer?" is written by Arthur Train and is filled with sensible advice. "What Booze Did to Me in the Twenties" is a personal confession of a well-known writer who has stopped drinking. The theatrical article is about and by Fred Stone.

Fiction ranks high this month, being by such well known authors as William Dudley Pelley, David Grayson, Hugh S. Fullerton, Mabel Nelson Thurston, and Edna Ferber. "Sid Says: It's the Encores People Call For That Makes Lying Difficult." The interesting People Department, Family Money, and other miscellaneous matter is fully up to the standard.

MAPPING THE DESERT.

In spite of the march of progress and the spread of the automobile, there are great desert stretches in the southwestern part of the United States where travel is still actually perilous, owing to the scarcity of water. If the traveler goes astray between two widely separated waterholes, his fate is likely to be an unpleasant one. The United States Geological Survey is preparing to map all the water-holes of these desert stretches. The maps will show not only the exact location of the water, but also whether it is permanent or seasonal. Underground waters and their approximate depths will be shown as well, and it is thought that the work will lead to the opening up of the mineral resources of the great dry lands.

Also the rule is that the more pin money a woman has the less needle-work she does.

BOONE HIGHWAY REALIZATION OF MARET'S VISION.

The vision of Col Jim Maret, of the little town of Mt. Vernon, which appeared to that gentleman early in the year of 1913 is soon to be realized. By the heroic efforts of the little band of good roads men of this town was placed upon the map a great highway, the home of Boone in 1750, to Kenton, Ohio, a city named in honor of Simon Kenton, the companion of Boone in the pioneer days of the settlement of Kentucky.

The highway was named in honor of that old frontiersman, and to-day "Boone Way" is known all over our country as being destined to be one of the leading highways between the North and Southeast, and will prove of national importance, and a mecca to tourists who will visit the historical places that line this road from one end to the other, especially in connection with the life of Daniel Boone, and the wild mountain scenery of the Cumberland and Appalachian Mountains will greatly appeal to all who are so fortunate as to travel this great highway.

The few short gaps that remain in the Cumberlands are being rapidly graded and it will be less than six months until we have a complete highway nearly 800 miles in length.

The routing is as follows: Beginning at Boone Park and Lexington, North Carolina, passing through Blowing Rock and Linville, of the same State, Elk Park and Elizabethtown, Tennessee, Bristol, Gate City, Jonesville and Cumberland Gap, Tennessee, Middlesboro, Corbin, London, Mt. Vernon, Richmond, Boonesboro, Winchester, Paris, Carlisle and Maysville, Kentucky, Aberdeen, Portsmouth, Waverly, Chillicothe, Columbus, Marysville to Kenton, Ohio.

Col. Maret, President of the Boone Way Association, with headquarters at Mt. Vernon, has lately completed the list of Boone Way Commissioners in the various counties along the entire line of the highway, whose duties are to keep alive the spirit of good roads progress and to see to the marking and placing the official sign of the highway every quarter of a mile along the road from Boone Park to Kenton. Col. Maret has appointed Mr. Swift Champ, editor of THE NEWS, a Boone Highway Commissioner for Bourbon county.

One division of this road reaches Asheville and Biltmore, North Carolina, another diverges at Mt. Vernon and runs to Danville, Lexington, Frankfort and Louisville, a point to which Boone was sent by Governor Dunmore in 1774 to warn a party of surveyors of an expected uprising of the Indians. The entire mileage of Boone Way covers 1,000 miles.

This is not merely a "paper" highway, but an actual, real blown in the bottle fact, and a very large portion of the credit for the success of the outcome of the movement is due to the newspapers along the line which gave substantial encouragement at all times and on all occasions.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

The cost of a breakfast of grapefruit converted into oatmeal with cream and sugar would sustain life ten times as long.

Two boiled eggs for breakfast do you more good than twelve times their cost invested in strawberries.

The price of an oyster cocktail invested in codfish buys twenty times as much body food.

Mushrooms at 60 cents the portion would buy ten loaves of bread with forty times the nutriment.

One glass of buttermilk contains more food than five glasses of beer.

Corn was the steady ration of a million slaves in Southern States prior to the Civil War, and it kept them in excellent physical condition.

We would have not only cash but health if we ate less.

If you put the 65 cents you would pay for a modest amount of asparagus tips into baked beans and bacon you would treat yourself to twenty-five times the life-saving necessity.

A dog would starve to death on peach melbas at 20 cents each.

It is not the high cost of living, after all, that should be remedied, but the cost of high living.

NEWSPAPERS TO HELP IN FOOD CONSERVATION.

Declaring that the campaigns for the Liberty Loan and the Red Cross would not have been a success without the assistance of the newspapers, and that the future success of the food conservation movement depended likewise on the co-operation from the press, F. M. Sackett, food administrator for Kentucky, in calling together a group of Kentucky newspapermen for the purpose of organizing a Committee on Publicity, announced that he would place in the hands of this committee unreservedly all decision regarding the publicity of the campaign in Kentucky.

The committee was organized as follows: C. E. Segner, chairman; Lewis C. Humphrey, Thomas Wallace, James Keller, S. W. Forgy, of Ashland; Charles I. Stewart, of Lexington; Ben Cozine, of Shelbyville; J. C. Alcock, of Jeffersonton.

Mr. Sackett presided at the meeting, which was held at the food conservation headquarters in the Speed building.

The State-wide campaign to be launched soon, he said, would be fully as important as those for the Red Cross and the Liberty Loan, although no funds would be solicited, the work consisting chiefly in securing pledges and signatures on the food saving cards which will be distributed in the near future.

MIDWINTER SESSION OF PRESS ASSOCIATION AT LEXINGTON

Lexington was chosen for the midwinter meeting of the Kentucky Press Association at a meeting of the executive committee of that organization at Louisville, Friday, and December 26-27 set as the date, with Harry Giovannoli, executive member from Lexington, chairman of the program committee for the meeting.

For the purpose of uniting all publishers throughout the State in several matters which it is believed will be generally beneficial and economical, all publishers of dailies, weeklies and semi-weeklies, regardless of their membership in the association, will be urged to be present at the meeting.

A plan of co-operation along practical business lines will be worked out and presented to the newspaper men. This will include the establishment of one special agency to represent all the weekly papers in the foreign advertising field.
